The Raytheon Issue

Three-fourths of Andover's revenue comes from property taxes.

The typical property in Andover requires more in town services than it pays for.

The school budget in the next five years will double, as it has in the past five years.

These are points made by Town Manager Bowen at Monday night's planning board meeting for public discussion of rezoning land on which Raytheon wishes to build a new plant.

Raytheon's proposed construction, Selectman Chairman Allen said, will produce $600,000 a year in new taxes.

Here are points, we believe, that argue conclusively for Andover's approval of the rezoning necessary to enable Raytheon to build on the site the company prefers.

Raytheon already is a rich Andover asset. It can be made a richer one — or Raytheon's request can be turned down and Raytheon can go elsewhere. There are probably a dozen sites within a 20-mile radius of Andover, as good as that in Andover, in communities that would welcome such a large and responsible company.

Andover needs Raytheon more than Raytheon needs Andover, needs it to accomplish what Bowen called the merger of the industrial and the residential to balance the economic base of the community, a way of saying to keep the tax bills within reason.

John R. Talley, president of Coca-Cola Interamerican Corporation, and Daniel E. Hogan, president of Standard International Corporation of Andover, have announced that agreement has been reached whereby Coca-Cola Interamerican will acquire Standard's interests in its South American Coca-Cola bottling franchises.

Standard has a majority interest in the franchises of Santiago and Valparaiso in Chile, Cordoba, Argentina and Montevideo, Uruguay, as well as a small interest in the Sao Paulo, Brazil, franchise.

It is expected that the transaction will be consummated sometime in August for an undisclosed amount of cash.

All non-registered persons desiring to attend the Special Town Meeting, Wednesday, July 31 must register to vote. Registrations will be accepted today and Friday from 7:45 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. at the Town Hall. Final registering time will be Saturday between the hours of 2 and 4.

Bonus Forms Have Not Yet Arrived Here

Forms for the use of Andover residents eligible for the state bonus for servicemen in uniform during the Vietnam War are expected to be available at the Veterans' Service office here in from two to three weeks.

Servicemen with overseas service will be eligible to receive $300 while those with state-side service will be entitled to $200. When the forms are filled out they are sent to the assessors office where they will be certified as to residency in Massachusetts. They will then go to Boston.

Elmer S. Ober, Veteran's Service Agent at town hall will provide assistance for those needing it to fill out their bonus applications.

Town Meeting

Voters' Decisions Come On Wednesday

With the advanced public hearings on the warrant for the special town meeting completed, Andover citizens are now looking forward to the 8 p.m. session July 31 at Memorial Auditorium.

The big issue is the rezoning of land adjacent to Routes 93 and 133 from residential to industrial to allow Raytheon to build a new plant there.

In the warrant, the rezoning for Raytheon comes before the meeting under article 4. The three earlier articles are related to other matters concerning rezoning of a tract of land in Ballardvale and the acquisition of land for the improvement of drainage in the Lowell Junction area.

Beginning with article 4, the voters will be called upon to act on the rezoning and then in order, under article 5 to appropriate $150,000 for the installation of a water line to the proposed site; article 6 to provide $170,000 for a sewer system; article 8 to provide $30,000 for the acquisition of land to provide an access road at Osgood and Frontage Streets.

All of these pertain to the new location chosen by Raytheon which now occupies the former Shaw-sheen Mill in Andover.

The final article in the warrant calls for authority to abandon plans for a sewer line to the West Andover Industrial area which was approved at the March town meeting but which was never undertaken.

The first article to come before the meeting will be a request of the Shawsheen Rubber Co. to rezone a parcel of land adjoining its present plant in Ballardvale.

Article 2 will deal with Lowell Junction drainage, while article 3 deals with zoning law amendments regulating the height of buildings and on screening certain areas from adjoining property.

Rezoning Opponents Are Vocal At Board Hearing

The pro and con battle over rezoning a tract of residential land for Raytheon's new plant continued Monday night at the planning board hearing in Central School auditorium.

Town officials presented facts and figures to show the financial benefits of the move while residents of the area at the junction of Routes 93 and 133 demanded to know why the firm doesn't go into an industrial area.

Temperatures continued to flare Monday as they did the previous week when the selectmen held the first of two public hearings on the warrant articles for the special town meeting on July 31. The selectmen held a second session last night.

Chairman Harold T. King of the planning board, who presided at Monday's meeting let Andover's Senior Little-League All-Stars go against Cedar Grove of Dorchester Friday at 2 p.m. This is a critical game since a win will put them in a state championship game Saturday against the winner of the Swansea-Winchester tilt.

The winner of the state championship game goes on to the New England playoffs at Norwalk, Conn., in August.

Andover advanced to its present standing by defeating Chelmsford 4-1 Monday night to win the district 14 title.

Andover scored one run in the third and three in the fourth. Chelmsford's tally was in the seventh inning.

Provencal was the winning pitcher, allowing three hits, two passes, and struck out five.

PO Service Cut To Begin Saturday

The initial effect of the cut in postal service will be felt in Andover Saturday.

The windows, where stamps are sold and packages mailed, will be closed. The lobby of the main post office on Main Street will be open during the usual business hours on Saturday so that those renting boxes may obtain their mail. Since the windows will be closed, there will be no general delivery service here. There is very little at any time and opening of the windows would lead to requests for other services from the clerk which he would not be permitted to offer. Business Merger Study Made

To find out why many New England businesses have been merging recently the New England Council asked Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration to do a study. Harvard assigned two of their bright young graduate students, S. Craig Grant and Richard Halverson to examine the New England merger situation with the following results.

To begin with, price appears to be one of the least important considerations when a New England firm is contemplating selling. The major concerns of sellers were listed as:

- will personalities and policies of the prospective buyer be consistent with the seller.
- will the selling company be able to operate autonomously after the merger.

--will career opportunities be better after the merger.

--is the buyer's management competent and will the opportunities be better.

--are the offering price terms acceptable.

Among the reasons New England businessmen gave for selling their firms were:

--the desire to get money out of the business.

--strong financial backing offered by many buyers.

--guarantees of continuity of the business or attractive career paths offered the small company by a large parent organization.

--a favorable difference in price or growth of a prospective buyer's stock (is a powerful inducement to stockholders).

--to diversify markets or product line.

--listing on the New York Stock Exchange through merger.

While the study could not say definitely if more New England businesses, per capita, are merging than in the rest of the Nation, it did make two observations as to what might prompt mergers in this region: first,

"In New England a greater number of older business firms are currently owned by third and fourth generation family members and are particularly prone to merger offers," and second, "merger becomes attractive to the large number of young technically oriented firms whose owners do not really desire to be businessmen."

As to the success of business mergers, Halverson and Grant said, "It is our opinion that there are many varying degrees of success, probably as many as there are varying degrees of success in independent business, but it is our opinion that after some time a significant portion of the sellers would say they wish that they had not been so quick to sell their company."

Much more will have to be known about business mergers in New England because of the ultimate effect they will have on the six-state economy. As the first of these studies, the Grant-Halverson report will serve as a basis for future investigation.

Dr. R. L. Taylor Awarded Medal

Dr. Raymond L. Taylor, 15 Charlotte Dr., was one of three members of the Avco Everett Research Laboratory staff who were awarded Silver Combustion Medals July 18 at the 12th International Combustion Symposium held at the University of Poitiers, Poitiers, France.

The medals were awarded to Dr. Taylor, Dr. Morton Camac and Mr. Robert M. Feinberg for their paper "Measurements of Vibration-Vibration Coupling in Gas Mixtures," selected as the most outstanding paper presented at the 11th International Combustion Symposium held in August 1966 at the University of California, Berkeley, Calif.

The Symposium is an international, biennial meeting of noted physicists, chemists and engineers in the field of combustion. Its purpose is to promote the science and application of combustion through lectures, papers and discussions and their subsequent publication. The medals were presented by The Combustion Institute, sponsor of the Symposium.

Dr. Taylor is a graduate of Brown University and California Institute of Technology. He has been with Avco Everett since 1959 working in the areas of chemical kinetics and radiation physics. Previously he was associated with Aerojet General Corporation and with Chemical Products Corporation. He is a member of Sigma Xi, American Physical Society, American Chemical Society and The Combustion Institute.

Most grasshoppers are strong fliers and easily frightened into flight. The males may be heard singing during the day - a rasping noise produced by drawing the hind legs across the veins of the wings.

If fighting rattlesnakes bite each other they both will die. So when they fight they twine around each other and wrestle until one presses the head of the other to the ground; the loser is allowed to escape.

GETTING ACQUAINTED at the picnic held Sunday at the Recreation Park are these men and women from all sections of the community who attended the event sponsored by several organizations. (Cole)

Get-Acquainted Picnic To Be Repeated

One hundred forty three people shared fun and sun, friendship and food last Sunday afternoon at the Recreation Park. Ages ranged from toddlers to parents and grandparents, and all mixed and mingled in freedom and sociability. Members and friends from seven Greater Lawrence organizations participated in this picnic.

The wide variety of playground equipment donated to the Park by the Andona Society kept the little ones safe and happy. Other children and adults went swimming at Pomp's Pond or joined in folk songs led by Jan Scheerer, and Heather Moody. Karen Bruce directed a four part patching chant to old and young.

A high light of the afternoon was a tug of war organized by Meredith Moody. The teams were comprised of all ages and sexes, and ended in a tie. A soft ball game began early and continued all afternoon. Again the teams were made up of a variety of ages and sexes.

This afternoon of conversation and sociability was so enjoyed that a second "Getting to Know You" picnic will be held on Sunday, August 11 from 12:30 to 5 p.m. at the Recreation Park. Families friends and members from ABC Andover Citizens for Equal Opportunities, The Greater Lawrence Fair Housing Council, Kerner Report Group, The Third Baptist Church, Spanish Speaking People and the Wide Horizon's Summer Play School, plus any interested persons, will meet to eat, talk, play and relax. In case of rain the picnic will be held on Sunday, August 18.

Committee members include Mrs. Richard Finnagan, Mrs. Paul Harris, Mrs. Richard McCarthy, Mrs. David Young and Mrs. Adeline M. Wright.

Conservation Conference

Amateur and professional scientists from all over the Northeast will converge on the University of Massachusetts campus in Amherst on August 2-4 to participate in FOCUS: OUTDOORS, a natural history conference. This second annual workshop is sponsored by the Massachusetts Audubon Society and is open to the public.

Many of the naturalists who will be traveling to the conference will serve as instructors and entertainers, but most of the 1000 participants will enjoy an informal vacation weekend of natural history education with the experts. Two celebrated naturalist photographers, Dr. Olin Sewall Pettingill, Jr., Director of the Laboratory of Ornithology at Cornell University in New York, and Robert Hermes, a National Audubon Screen Tour lecturer from Florida, will narrate their color nature movies. Harvard University will send two renowned scientists, Dr. Alfred Sherwood Romer and Dr. Carroll Williams. Nature photographers Jack Englert, FSPA, of Eastman Kodak, and Leslie Campbell, FSPA, a widely praised amateur will present color slide programs.

More than thirty informal lecture-demonstrations will be conducted by scientists, amateur naturalists, conservationists and students.

Camp Merrymeeting Notes

Camp Merrymeeting, the Girl Scout day camp in Andover, directed by Mrs. G. Earle Camber has started its second session with additional registrations since June first of:

Carol and Janice Doyle, Bonnie, Laurie and Robin Hanky, Judith Maguire from Andover.

Reports from the first session show that many varied program activities took place, - archery, cookouts, crafts and nature developing the greatest enthusiasm. Somemores, mock angel food, one pot meals, shiskabobs, banana boats, sloppy Joes, and dinners cooked in foil whetted the young appetites.

In crafts the girls made early American plaques, memo pad holders, bracelets, baskets, lanyards and shell spiders. Practice in Campcraft resulted in wash stands being erected, a table made for the rain gauge, and a camp site set up. Bows and arrows and Indian toys were also made.

Mrs. John Holmes, nature counselor, guided campers in identification of plant and water life as they laid nature trails, made terrariums and studied with a magnifying glass.

Older girls enjoyed an overnight stay and everyone was happy with songs and games.

P.O. SERVICE

the morning - from 8 to 10 a.m., - so that residents may pick up their mail from boxes.

Mail deliveries will continue to homes on Saturday. The postmaster general has said that Saturday deliveries would stop in October. Later, he threatened that mail delivery to homes would be cut to four days a week if the order to reduce manpower by 83,238 jobs is forced on the postal service.

Collection of mail in Andover on Saturday will be according to the same schedule as is operated on Sunday.

Native Corn Now Abundant

Carrots, cauliflower and outdoor cucumbers from nearby farms are newcomers on this week's list of "best buys" in native produce reported by the Massachusetts Department of Commerce. Sweet corn, which made a token appearance a week ago, is arriving in abundance at reasonable prices for this seasonal treat from growers in western Massachusetts, according to the Massachusetts Dept. of Agriculture.

A broad list of fresh native vegetables is topped by greens and salad ingredients, including beetgreens, broccoli rabe, chicory, Swiss chard, collards, dandelions, escarole, kale, parsley, radishes, scallions, spinach and every variety of lettuce, from clean, crisp, firm iceberg to the tall, narrow, lushly dark green Romaine. While greenhouse vine-ripened tomatoes are abundant and economical, outdoor tomatoes are beginning to show on produce counters and should be in good supply in a week or two. Fava, wax and green beans are plentiful and low-priced, as are bunched beets, green peas, zucchini and yellow summer squash, and a slew of cabbages - green, red, Savoy and Chinese. Native blueberries and raspberries are abundant this week. Egg prices, though firmer, still represent economical buys in every size, with extra large and large sizes the best buys.

Some folks favor rigid revision of everything except themselves.

Machinery Purchased By Museum

The Merrimack Valley Textile Museum has purchased all of the machinery in the Antioch (W. Va.) Woolen Mill, according to an announcement from the museum today. Thomas W. Leavitt, director, said the machinery has been removed from the mill and is en route to North Andover, where it will be assembled for display and study. Leavitt said the purchase is the most important acquisition of machinery made by the museum during the last ten years.

Included in the collection are a wool picker, manufactured by M.A. Furbush & Son, Philadelphia, a set of three woolen cards, Bridesburg Manufacturing Co., Bridesburg, Pa., ca 1877, a wooden-framed, 100-spindle spinning jack, Bickford & Lombard, Worcester, ca. 1864, a wooden warping reel and creel, a throstle twister, A. Jenks & Son, Bridesburg, Pa.; probably 1850 or before, a broad multi-harness power loom, George Crompton, Worcester; ca. 1880, a narrow multi-harness power loom, Fairmount Machine Co., Philadelphia; ca. 1893, and several smaller machines used in the manufacture of woolen cloth.

The Antioch Woolen Mill was owned by the late Scott Rotruck, who lived a few yards from the mill. Tradition has it that the building was erected as early as 1789; the date "1861" is marked in mortar on the basement wall, which indicates a repair to that part of the structure. Originally a grist mill, and still containing some buckwheat and corn grinding equipment, the building was filled with textile machinery in about 1917. The machines passed through many hands before they came to Antioch, having been in mills at Maysville and Martin, W. Va. Motive power was provided by an over-shot water wheel until a few years before production ceased. World War II caused the wool supply to be diverted to government contractors; after the war most of the machinery was never used again for commercial production.

Blankets and overcoating were two of the chief products of the mill. Until he sold the machinery to the museum, Mr. Rotruck wove very distinctive and artistic rugs on his hand loom for sale to occasional visitors.

Addition of these items to the museum will "substantially strengthen" its collection, now probably the most comprehensive assembly of historic cloth-making equipment in the United States, according to James C. Hippen, curator, who conducted the negotiations for the Antioch purchase.

Several pieces in the Antioch collection will be placed immediately in the major exhibit in the museum, Hippen said. These include the Jenks throstle twister and the Crompton broad loom.

The Merrimack Valley Textile Museum was incorporated in 1960 and opened its exhibits to the public late in 1964. The permanent exhibit outlines the history of American textile technology in the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries. The artifacts in the display, collected for the most part from the Northeastern section of the United States, are surrounded by prints, photographs and text blocks which comment on the various processes involved in wool manufacturing.

The study collection in the museum includes books, periodicals, prints, architectural drawings, photographs, machinery, textiles and manuscripts. These materials are utilized by graduate students, historians, craftsmen and the staff.

The galleries are open Tuesday through Saturday, 10 to 4, and Sunday, 1 to 5. There is no charge for admission to the museum, which is privately supported.

Connecticut paid its last bounty for a mountain lion in 1769. Vermont and New Hampshire had mountain lions until about 1880, and there are recent reports of a small population in the province of New Brunswick.

"To the press alone, checkered as it is with abuses, the world is indebted for all the triumphs which have been obtained by reason and humanity over error and oppression."--James Madison.

Detour End Probably Next Week

The end of the Main Street detour, caused by the installation of the Rogers Brook pipeline will probably come next week.

While the big pipes are already in the ground across the street, there has been a delay caused by the building of an underground vault to replace a man hole. The vault contains telephone conduits.

At the same time, Main Street drains are being tied into the big line to take care of the surface water.

Memorial Hall Library

Cookbooks

Tired of the same old hot dogs and hamburgers for summer fare? The Memorial Hall Library has a large collection of cookbooks, for the "summer soldier" and "sunshine patriot." For these lazy days in the sun, these books can save time and add enjoyment to summer meals, according to Reference Librarian, Mrs. Constance Smyth.

For you seafood addicts (and who isn't, in Andover?) there is the "Sunset Sea-Food Cookbook," with lots of helpful diagrams and Jean Schulz's "Shrimply Delicious," the last word in cooking shrimp. For pie fanciers the Farm Journal publishes the "Complete Pie Cookbook," and for the young of all ages there is Deloris Clem's "The Cookie Cookbook." Mouth-watering! The newlyweds are not forgotten either, for the library has "The Bride's Magazine Cookbook," a good way to start off a summer marriage.

Do you have the urge for salt-spray and sea air? Try "The Galley Cookbook" by Hans and Helen Anderson, with plenty of practical tips for the landlubber. For those of you with home freezers June Roth's "Freeze and Please Home Freezer Cookbook" might fill the bill. Now if you are the kind of person who can't get enough of the old "burger," here is Ruth Church's "The Burger Cookbook," with over 200 recipes. Anyone in the house with a sweet tooth? Try the "Candy Cookbook" by Gros or Better Homes and Gardens "Cookies and Candles."

If you expect to be going off to the country for the weekend, why not take along Hila and Louise Colman's "The Country Weekend Cookbook," or Better Homes and Gardens "Barbecue Book" for complete outdoor cooking.

There is one book in the collection at Memorial Hall Library that deserves special mention. This is "The American Heritage Cookbook and Illustrated History of American Eating and Drinking." If you have someone in your home who enjoys reading about food or just wants an unusual glimpse of American social customs, this is the best book published in a decade. Beautiful photographs and paintings illustrate many fine moments in our country's cooking history, and well written stories point up the quizzical in our eating habits. There is also, for the adventurous cook, some five hundred traditional and historic menus at the end of the book.

Finally, just for fun, why not try "The Eating-in-Bed Cookbook" by Byfield (for those slug-a-beds) or the "Joyce Chen Cookbook" of Chinese recipes. This book tells you how and where to shop, and how to buy and prepare these nourishing foods. Happy browsing at the library . . .

Land Takings Approved

The selectmen Monday night carried out town meeting authorization and executed two land takings by right of eminent domain for temporary construction easements and permanent easements over parcels of land.

One of the takings involved three parcels and the second two owners.

In the first, the owners and the sums paid are: William R. Ballou, $75; Ernest and Sarah N. MacDougall, $70; and M. Olive Shaw, $1.

The second action included Theodore Mikulewicz, $800, and James F. and Helen M. Ferreira, $300.

The land is located in the Lowell Junction area, the exact locations being shown on surveyor's plans which are included in the papers for the orders of taking.

The trend in wall finishes is toward luxurious, distinctive finishes and away from paint. Hardwood veneer paneling, cork squares, metal, ceramic and plastic tiles are gaining in popularity.

Don't be upset or depressed just because you're getting white. You still can have beautiful, lustrous hair by taking care of it properly. A little ordinary laundry bluing in the rinse water after your shampoo makes white hair even whiter and gets rid of that yellowish tinge that's so common with white hair. Don't use too much or you'll end up with blue hair. You probably will have to experiment to see how much is necessary to give you the proper results. This trick has been used by many women with much satisfaction, thus producing a shimmering white coiff!

To insure proper results when it comes to hair coloring, come to CAPILO HAIR STYLISTS, 2 Riverina Rd., Shawsheen-Andover. Tel. 475-1639. We use the new coloring machine . . . reduces process time. Open Daily 9-6. Fri. 9-8. Complete beauty service.

Myers - Foster

Miss Jo-Anwyl Foster, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Matthews Foster, 10 Smithshire

Estates, became the bride of Gary Roland Myers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Joseph Myers, 28 Cedar Cliff Dr., Camp Hill, Penna., on July 20 at 2 p.m. at Christ Episcopal Church, Rev. J. Edison Pike, officiated.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a dress of oyster white Irish linen with a high rise Victorian neckline and deep cuffs embellished by crocheted lace. Her headpiece was a lace mantilla and she carried a cascade of marguerites and stephanotis.

Miss Laurellen Foster was the maid of honor and Mrs. Richard Wilson Foster was the honorary matron of honor. The bridesmaids were Miss Lisa Ann Myers, Miss Alice W. DeNormandie, Mrs. Steven B. Koenig and Miss Judith Ann Behler.

Eric Robert Myers served as the best man and ushering the guests were Stephen M. Foster, Robert M. Somerlatte, Frederick C. Sears II, Kurt Jacob Myers and Richard W. Foster.

A reception was held for the couple at the Lanam Club.

The bride is a graduate of Abbott Academy and Wilson College. She is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. Davis of North Andover and Mrs. John T. Foster of Topsfield.

The bridegroom was graduated from the University of Delaware where he received his degree in chemical engineering. He received his degree of Juris Doctor from the Dickinson School of Law in June and will serve as a captain in the U.S. Army, Judge Advocate General's Corps, Legal Branch.

INTERESTED IN REDUCING YOUR ANDOVER TAX BILL?

YOU CAN-

... by attending the SPECIAL TOWN MEETING on WEDNESDAY, JULY 31st, 8 P.M., at the Memorial Auditorium, Bartlett Street.

YOU CAN-

... by urging your Andover friends and neighbors to also attend.

YOU CAN-

... by VOTING "YES" on the pertinent Articles on the Warrant which would allow 160 acres of land at the Junction of Lowell St. and Route 93 to be rezoned from residential to industrial. A positive vote at this meeting will permit Raytheon Company to relocate from its present inadequate facility in Shawsheen to a much needed modern facility at the proposed site.

YOU CAN-

... by VOTING "YES" for the relocation of Raytheon. The new Raytheon manufacturing complex will contribute over $600,000 per year in new tax revenue to our Town. This means a saving of $4.00 per thousand on your tax bill. This additional tax revenue will also help stabilize our inevitably rising tax rate. Industry interested in locating in the area in the future will take notice of Andover's ability to maintain a firm tax base.

Miss Joan Rae Lynch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Lynch, 37 Gray Rd., became the bride of Richard A. Lewis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alwyn M. Lewis, 420 Westminster Ave., Greensburg, Pa., at a 10 a.m. ceremony June 29 in Christ Episcopal Church, Rev. J. Edison Pike, officiated.

Sharyn R. Lynch was the maid of honor while the bridesmaids were Mrs. Carole A. Miles and Miss Mary Jane King.

John Lewis of Kent, Ohio, was the best man.

John J. Lynch and Bruce Lobach were the ushers, Mrs. Hazel Santacrose had charge of the guest book. The solist was Miss Joan Samra.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a skimmer A-line styled gown of white pure silk imported linen with a scoop neckline trimmed to yoke with imported Venice corded lace; sleeves and hemline also similarly trimmed.

Her cathedral, detachable, circular train had trim of corded lace. She wore a four tiered imported French illusion veil attached to an open Bianci crown trimmed with crystal and seed pearls and carried a bouquet of white roses and babies' breath.

The maid of honor and bridesmaids wore Grecian styled gowns of yellow chiffon. Their nose-length veils were held in place by a cluster of yellow silk roses and they carried cascade bouquets of yellow and burnt orange gladioli petals.

The bride's mother wore a dress of champagne satin with matching overlay of lace; flowered hat of citrus shades and a corsage of matching roses.

The bridegroom's mother wore a pink silk dress with matching lace jacket; pink flowered hat and a corsage of matching roses.

Guests attended from Rhode Island, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Maine, New Hampshire, Florida, and Massachusetts.

A reception was held at Camelot in North Andover after which the couple went on a trip through the New England states. They will live at 15 Barreau St., Endwell, N.Y.

The bride is a graduate of Seton Hill College and was a Latin teacher at Andover High School. She is a past president of the Andover Education Association, was head of the cheer leaders, and advisor to the Latin Club. She is now at Union-Endicott Central School District of New York.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Davis-Elkins College and Penna. Technical Institute. He is an Army veteran and designs machines for IBM in Endicott, N.Y.

VA Advises GI Students

Apply now for your Veterans Administration Certificate of Eligibility and avoid the fall rush.

So the VA advises veterans who plan to enter school this fall under the G.I. Bill. Veterans already in training under the G.I. Bill who plan to change programs or schools this fall must obtain new Certificates of Eligibility from the VA.

The principal advantage to the veteran of heeding advice to apply now is that he can be certain this his G.I. Bill education allowance will be dated from the day school begins. If he fails to apply for the certificate until after school has started there may be a delay in payment of his allowance, according to the VA. To obtain a Certificate of Eligibility, a veteran planning to enter school or training for the first time under the G.I. Bill should get in touch with his nearest Veterans Administration office.

A veteran who requires another certificate because of a change in program or school should contact the VA regional office which maintains his records on file.

A veteran who is not changing programs or schools need not obtain another certificate.

Attend The Meeting

It's mid-summer and hot. Everyone wants to get away from it all.

But there are times when duty comes first. Duty as a citizen, that is.

There's going to be a most important special town meeting next Wednesday night at Memorial Auditorium.

Decisions effecting every resident of the community will be made at that meeting.

Town officials don't like to call special town meetings in the hot weather. People are away on vacation and others are lethargic; they don't want to leave the backyard pool or the porch easy chair.

This town meeting had to be called; time was of the essence for a number of reasons.

All of the issues which have been so hotly debated at public hearings during the last two weeks will be resolved next Wednesday night by those who attend the town meeting.

We strongly urge everyone to put aside for one evening the pleasures of vacation and summer relaxation and attend the town meeting at Memorial Hall.

Andover residents would do well to take notice of what the neighboring town of North Andover did Monday night when an important town meeting was held on a muggy night.

More people turned out than for a regular town meeting in March.

Let's see Andover match that showing.

School Survey

Education takes the biggest bite out of the tax dollar in Andover just as it does in every other community.

It has been estimated that the town will be spending some $5 million for schools within the next five years.

The cost could be a great deal higher if a group now studying the role of parochial schools in the archdiocese comes up with a recommendation that the elementary and high schools be phased out.

The two-year study was commissioned by Cardinal Cushing. It will be made by an eight-man team known as New England Catholic Education Center at Boston College.

An article in the Pilot, organ of the Boston Archdiocese, said the research effort "could completely restructure Catholic elementary and secondary schools as we have known them for nearly 100 years."

The first phase of the study is expected to look into assessments of the parochial school system's strengths and weaknesses, the feasibility of continuing to operate church schools in view of rising costs, the effects of population shifts on the schools, the needs of the poor, and the decrease in the number of vocations.

In the second phase, parents will be consulted about their views on the continuation of parochial schools. The researchers will examine the possibility of pooling teaching orders as well as sharing plants and other aids.

Just over the line in South Lawrence, St. Patrick's and Sacred Heart parishes already have a study underway toward a possible merger of the school systems.

If the decision is ever made to phase out the elementary and secondary schools operated by the church, there will be an additional tax burden thrown on the already hard pressed citizen.

Facts and Figures

If you are one who likes to collect facts, perhaps the following statistics on New England might be of interest.

Did you know, for instance, that New England covers 66,608 square miles, which is 1.8% of the land area of the United States. Living in this area is 5.7% of the national population - over 11 million people.

Manufacturing is the source of 37.4% of the region's personal income (as against 30.4% for the Nation), followed by Trade and Services 31.4% (31.6% for the U.S.), Government 11.6% (13.6% for the U.S.), and Farms 1.3% (4.2% for the U.S.). All other sources account for 18.3% of New England's personal payroll.

In the field of finance this region has 7.5% of the Nation's bank deposits and 6.2% of "in force" life insurance. As for bank, insurance company, and investment trust assets New England has $92,959,000,000 which is 11.2% of the National figure.

New Englanders operate over 4,000,000 passenger cars, which is 5.7% of the national total, and they have 3,079,736 residential telephones - just over 4% of the national share.

The region also produces 7.3% of all electrical energy in the United States.

Employees involved in non-agricultural jobs number over 4 million or 6.5% of the national picture. New England also has 8% of all manufacturing employment - a figure that exceeds 1-1/2 million workers.

What Our Readers Say

To the Editor:

Everybody's Real Estate tax bill is higher this year than in 1967. Last year we paid $25,000 per thousand and valuation. This year it is $31,000. An increase of more than 20% in one year. As taxes go up rents usually follow suit. With other words higher Taxes affect everybody alike.

The cost of local government is rising constantly. We need new Industrial Plants to help us carry the load.

Raytheon is the biggest taxpayer in Town. They want to build a new large plant in West Andover. Whatever the Town spends on road construction, water and sewer lines is in my opinion an excellent investment. The money will come back through increased Taxes.

Raytheon also provides jobs for thousands of people. This in turn benefits Andover and many other Communities.

S. Baer,
78 Haverhill Street.

To the Editor:

The arguments for rezoning for Raytheon in Andover are to increase our tax revenue; and to hold what we already receive by keeping Raytheon in town. The opposing arguments are that rezoning reduces the value of already built homes, adds to the traffic problem, and the haste to rezone prevents proper consideration.

The effect of rezoning on conservation should also be considered. The area to be rezoned contains 20 to 30 acres of marshland. The recently enacted state law to protect our inland wetlands indicates the importance of keeping marshlands to retain water. Yet by rezoning, we encourage filling our marshes for building.

Furthermore, the soil survey just completed for the town by the Soil Conservation Service of the Department of Agriculture shows that about half the area to be rezoned, which is where the plant will be located, is not suitable for building. It is classified as "3W". "3" means the area would not normally be used for commercial and industrial sites. The added "W" means that such soil is saturated with water from about 7 months to most of the year.

Many Andover organizations have evinced interest in conservation, in preventing the misuse of our land area, and in retaining the essential characteristics which make Andover a fine place in which to live. Among these are our several Garden Clubs, the Andover Historical Society, the League of Women Voters, the Sportsman's Club, the Scout Groups, the Andover Village Improvement Society, and the like.

If the interested members of these groups, and the many other Andover citizens who believe that maintaining the long range integrity of Andover outweighs immediate financial expediency, will register their convictions at the coming town meeting, I am confident that the best interests of Andover will be served.

To the Editor:

The Free Church sewing groups, have been sewing together for 15 years more or less. Just now they are off for vacation until Sept., and then they will resume the work again sewing for the Little Wanderers Home, the Salvation Army and the Red Cross. Their big sewing contract, is for the annual Free Church Fair. Hundreds of aprons are made besides all the other things made for sale at the sewing groups table. They are now making 50 Ditty Bags, for the Red Cross Christmas gift to the boys in Viet Nam and other places. Donations are made to the Salvation Army, The Tribune Santa Claus Fund and help with missionary barrels for those in foreign lands and in America. The group has an annual Christmas dinner party in the church social hall. They all work together for the welfare of the church. The members are all golden agers but keep young in heart sewing for humanity's needs.

Fallout Protection Data
On Way To Homes

Remember that questionnaire on home fallout protection you filled out and mailed for the Census Bureau several weeks ago? Or perhaps a Census Bureau enumerator visited your home for the purpose. In any event, Bureau computers at Jeffersonville, Indiana, have begun cranking out evaluations of questionnaires from this area and they'll be arriving in your mail shortly, according to State civil Defense Director Allan R. Zenowitz.

Director Zenowitz said that residents whose homes were surveyed by mail questionnaire would get their replies first; mailing of reports to most homes surveyed by Census Bureau enumerators is scheduled for a later date.

In either case, residents of one-, two- and three-family dwellings which were surveyed will find out from the reply whether their homes would provide adequate, almost adequate, or insufficient protection against fallout in a nuclear attack emergency. They will also get detailed advice on improving shelter areas in the home, or as an alternative, on seeking public shelter for their families.

Director Zenowitz pointed out that the Home Fallout Protection Survey, which is under way throughout Massachusetts is designed to locate home protection for the Nation's citizens to fill the gap between the public shelter space available and the total requirement for sheltering the entire U.S. population. The home survey program was called by President Johnson in a message to Congress in 1965. It is sponsored by the Office of Civil Defense of the Department of Defense, and is being conducted through the facilities of the U.S. Bureau of the Census.

Director Zenowitz explained that Census Bureau replies would fall in two major categories, depending on computer analysis of the questionnaire. Some householders will receive a "Fallout Protection in Homes with Basements" handbook bearing on its back cover a "Protection Evaluation Report" on his dwelling. This report will show the PF (Protection Factor) which the computer has calculated for the center and for the "best corner" of the basement. The PF for the center tells the amount of protection normally found in the entire basement.

The PF represents the relation between the amount of fallout radiation which would be received by a completely unprotected person compared to the amount received by a person protected by a shelter. The higher the PF, the more protection a basement affords against radiation.

For example, a person in a basement corner which is rated PF 40 would receive about one-fortieth, or 2 1/2 percent, of the radiation he would be subject to if unprotected.

Other householders, principally those without basements, will receive a handbook, "In Time of Emergency," containing basic guidance on nuclear attack preparedness as well as advice applicable to major peacetime disasters.

Director Zenowitz said also that residents who have not received questionnaires should contact their local Civil Defense Director for assistance.

Cooperation
In CD Survey
Is Requested

Burton B. Batcheller, Andover's Civil Defense director said that he has had reports that some residents on whom the Fallout Survey Census takers have called have treated them discourteously, doors have been slammed in their faces and that threats have been made to call the police.

Batcheller said that the team working on the survey is made up of young people and said that the questions they ask are not of a personal nature and that the time involved is only a few minutes.

He called upon Andover residents to be cooperative and polite to those calling at their homes for this information. The survey is scheduled to be completed by Aug. 8.

Apartment Complex
Is Approved

Following favorable action by the board of appeals, Building Inspector Arthur Peatman has approved plans for the construction of 154 apartment units, a swimming pool and other facilities on Routes 125 and 28 near the Howard Johnson Restaurant.

The buildings will be located on an 18 acre tract and will have frontage on both highways.

Cost of construction is estimated at $1,400,000 by the A.J. Colangelo Co., Inc., of Belmont. The complex is scheduled to contain 83 one-bedroom units, 59 two-bedrooms, and 32 studio-type apartments.

REZONING

it be known early in the session that he would not permit outbursts from the audience. He was unable to prevent several, including one at the tag end of the hearing when he told a speaker to sit down and some of the gathering stalked out of the auditorium.

The meeting was delayed until the arrival of the selectmen and town manager who had been conducting a meeting of their own at town hall.

King introduced Philip K. Allen, chairman of the selectmen, as the first speaker for the Raytheon cause.

Allen told the audience that Raytheon has been in Andover for 12 years and the building they occupy is antiquated.

"I hope they will stay in Andover," he said.

He explained that the firm needed to expand and have a modern plant. He said there are 5600 cars to be handled each work day.

Allen said that parcels of property in an area shown on a large map on the stage had been "pulled together" by a realty trust and a sale and purchase agreement had been made with Raytheon.

"Why are they asking rezoning when the town already has areas for industry?" a questioner asked Allen.

"We must have flexible planning," Allen replied.

He said that he knew the plans would upset some. "Our job as selectmen is to think of the entire town," he went on.

Allen said the main thing was to increase the tax base and control the rising taxes in the town.

He said that Raytheon now pays $150,000 in taxes and if the new plant is built here the eventual income will be $600,000 annually.

Allen said if the company leaves, they will probably abandon the Shawsheen plant if they build elsewhere, thereby cutting the tax base.

He concluded by advising that the issue was one of the most important to the town in a long, long time.

Wolf Berthold, chairman of the Development and Industrial Commission took the floor to put that organization on record as in favor of the rezoning of the area.

Town Manager Bowen said he would like to present a few financial facts. He pointed out that:

--Raytheon's tax contribution represented $1 on the tax rate.
--Residential property costs more in services than it brings in in taxes.

--Raytheon is planning a shift of location and is not creating a new industry in the town which would bring more residents and more services.

With the proponents presentation ended, the questions began from the floor.

A Sutherland Street resident asked Allen who the realty trust owners of the land were.

"Danton Realty Trust," he told.

He wanted to know if Allen knew the terms of the agreement between Raytheon and Danton. Allen said he knew there was a sale and purchase agreement existing but no more of the details.

The speaker said that the 45 acres now used for parking purposes in Shawsheen by Raytheon were intended for residential occupancy.

When Allen said one of the benefits of Raytheon's moving to West Andover would be to keep cars off the town's streets, he was loudly jeered.

This brought King to center stage for the first time with a stern warning that he would preserve order.

Another speaker wanted to know if the selectmen were unanimous in backing the Raytheon move. Allen told him no, that two members of the board did not go along since they wanted additional information.

He then asked Bowen what the town is called upon to do and was told that there are three things: a water line installation, a sewer installation and improvement of drainage under Osgood St.

A West Andover farmer wanted to know why the water line was not put in along the street instead of across his land. He was told that it would be too costly and that when the line was in, the farmer would still have his land.

"You don't know much about farming," he said. "When the topsoil is removed I couldn't plant a row of beans there."

Another speaker pointed out that Raytheon already has options on land in other parts of the town and said town officials should get a lot more information before acting at town meeting.

The promise that all of the Raytheon traffic would come and go by way of Route 93 and that company police would control the pattern was challenged from the floor. A speaker said that there was no way in which the drivers could be told what routes to take.

When an opponent of the plan said: "We are not saying we don't want Raytheon in Andover. We don't want it in our backyards," he just about summed up the sentiments of the opponents of the rezoning move.

Two Brothers Serve In Navy

Two Andover brothers are serving with the U.S. Navy. They are Lester F. Dixon, Jr., and Gerald A. Dixon, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Lester F. Dixon, Sr., 7 Boutwell Rd.

Lester, a machine repairman, first class, just reported for active duty at San Diego and was assigned to the USS Taussig. He has been in the reserves for several years. He is married to the former Patricia Bailey, formerly of Anaheim, Calif. She and the couple's four children will live on the base at San Diego. Until going to the west coast, they resided in Lawrence.

Lester's younger brother, Gerald, is spending 10 weeks at the U.S. Naval Academy, Annapolis, Md., as an ROTC member. He is a midshipman and is training to become an officer. He will return to Lowell Technological Institute in the fall. He attends the Naval Reserve Unit in Lowell during the school year.

ated.

The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, Dr. Patrick J. Doyle. She wore an Empire, A-line gown of Irish linen applique with daisies. A matching linen bow held her bouffant veil and she carried a Colonial bouquet of daisies, baby's breath and tea roses.

Mrs. Patricia Anderson was the matron of honor and the bridesmaids were Miss Catherine Fitzgerald, Miss Pamela Welsh, Miss Denise Fournier and Mrs. Janice Beanland. Miss Patricia Morgan was the flower girl.

Joseph Hastings served as the best man and ushering the guests were Michael Winters, Roger Hastings, Samuel Murray and William Monroe.

Mark Anderson was the ring bearer.

A reception was held at the Bradford Country Club after which the couple left for a honeymoon on Cape Cod. They are now residing at 40 Bellevue St., Lawrence.

Mr. and Mrs. Hastings are graduates of Andover High School and are employed by the Arlington Trust Company.

Is It ENOUGH?

You probably have fire insurance in an amount you thought would be enough to replace your home if it burned. But how long has it been since you checked that amount against today's high building costs? What you paid then isn't what it would cost you today. We can write the additional insurance you should have right now. You may need it tomorrow

Topsfield Fair To Add A Day

In this, its 150th anniversary year, the Essex Agricultural Society will conduct its first eight-day Topsfield Fair, Aug. 31-Sept. 7, Saturday through Saturday. For the past 22 years, America's oldest county fair has been a seven-day show, opening the Sunday before Labor Day and continuing the rest of the week.

Steadily rising costs of maintaining and operating the extensive plant and the need to increase prize money to attract the high-quality exhibits for which Topsfield is noted, made it necessary for the non-profit Society to seek additional revenue by running an eighth day, according to Fair President John J. Hurley.

The Society's first fair in 1818, on Salem Common was a one-day event. Subsequently, the Fair was staged in various parts of Essex County on a rotating basis - Danvers, Peabody, Haverhill being among the sites - and it became a two-day weekend event. When, in 1922, the Society acquired by bequest a permanent home on the present 75-acre tract on the banks of the Ipswich River, the Fair was extended to four days, later five. The first seven-day exposition was presented in 1946, and the name was changed from Essex County Fair to Topsfield Fair.

Robert Jordan At Camp Edwards

1st Lt. Robert J. Jordan of Saugus, a native of Andover, is undergoing two weeks active duty with Headquarters and Headquarters Company, 1st Brigade of the 26th (Yankee) Infantry Division at Camp Edwards.

Lt. Jordan, an attorney, is a member of the Judge Advocate General's section and the 26th Administration Company, stationed in Commonwealth Armory, Boston.

Lt. Jordan enlisted in the Massachusetts National Guard as a private with B Battery of the 1st Battalion, 102nd Artillery and was commissioned in 1965 as a 2nd Lieutenant in May, 1968.

The 26th Division is a member of the nation's elite Selective Reserve Force.

No matter what people say, character is still the best collateral for a loan.

If you are caught in stopped traffic with the motor idling for any length of time, the probability of vapor lock can be reduced by following the manufacturer's recommendations (given in owner's manual) to minimize the occurrence of vapor lock. Recommendation for some makes is to turn the engine off until traffic begins to move and for others to depress the gas pedal to produce a fast idle condition.

Forester Urges Care For State Woodlands

With the 1968 recreation season now well underway, Richard F. Simoneau, chairman, Massachusetts Tree Farm Committee and forester issued a plea today for care with Massachusetts' woodlands.

"Our 3,260,000 acres of commercial forest lands provide some of the finest recreation in the nation and at the same time are growing continuous crops of wood for one of the state's important industries, the growing, harvesting, transporting and manufacturing of wood into a multitude of products," the chairman said.

With the rapid increase in recreational activity, Simoneau pointed out that those using the woodlands and Tree Farms should couple forest fire prevention with forest cleanliness.

"Nothing, unless it be the horrible mess left by a forest fire, is more discouraging to a forest owner or manager than to come across a refuse pile left by thoughtless recreationists," the Tree Farm chairman emphasized.

Accumulations of tin cans, bottles and garbage leave an image that is not easily erased and are discouragements of the first order to forest owners.

It takes but a few moments to bury recreational trash or to place it in a receptacle provided for that purpose," the chairman pointed out.

"The careful use of fire, coupled with the thoughtful disposal of all trash, will help perpetuate the use of Massachusetts' forest lands for recreation and, at the same time, continue to provide the necessary raw materials to meet the demands of industry. I urge every recreationist planning a trip into Massachusetts woodlands to acquaint himself with the regulations governing woodland use as well as the location of approved camp sites," Simoneau said.

One advantage of having a large vocabulary: it lets you insult the other fellow and get out of range before he realizes it.

Edward C. Cradduck

Cradduck Promoted At Norwich

Names of newly-designated officers and non-commissioned officers of next fall's Norwich University Corps of Cadets have been announced.

Cadets are chosen for military rank in the Corps of Cadets on the basis of their academic and military performance and their qualities of leadership. Rank is assigned for one academic year at a time.

Edward C. Cradduck, who will be a junior at Norwich next fall, has been promoted to the rank of Cadet Sergeant First Class, and named platoon sergeant of I Company. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry E. Cradduck of 36 Lincoln Cir.

Merrimack Changes Announced

Reverend Thomas C. Kenny, O.S.A., has been named treasurer of the Merrimack College Corp. and to the Merrimack College Board of Trustees.

In addition to the appointment of Fr. Kenny, it was also announced that Reverends Edward J. Carney and John J. Daley submitted resignations from the Board. The changes were made at a meeting held at Merrimack on Monday, July 15, at which Rev. Vincent A. McQuade, O.S.A., Merrimack President since 1947, submitted his resignation to accept an appointment to serve as Augustinian Province Treasurer-Economist. Very Rev. John R. Aherne was named to succeed Fr. McQuade. Very Rev. Edward L. Daley, Provincial of the Augustinians, was named chairman of the Merrimack Board of Trustees.

The new trustee is a native of Stoneham, Fr. Kenny is a veteran of the United States Navy. He entered the Augustinian order following his tour of service and was educated at Villanova and Catholic University. Prior to his Merrimack College assignment, Fr. Kenny served as assistant Bursar at Villanova University. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Kenny of Stoneham.

The Merrimack College Board of Trustees is made up of six Augustinian priests and two laymen: Very Rev. Edward L. Daley, Chairman; Rev. Vincent A. McQuade, Rev. John R. Aherne, Rev. Thomas C. Kenny, Rev. Thomas F. Walsh, O.S.A., Very Rev. Joseph W. Kemme, O.S.A., Homer W. Bourgeois, of Lowell, and J. Leo Cronin, of Haverhill.

The Ivory-billed woodpecker, not seen for 62 years, has been rediscovered in a Texas swamp-land. It requires this specialized environment of large trees, killed by flooding and rich with beetle larvae which is its limited diet.

Pontiac outsells practically everyone, and has since 1961, so if you haven't taken a good look at them lately, visit McAndrew Pontiac, Inc. at 209 South Broadway in Lawrence. See their big selection of wide-track Pontiacs and discover what you have been missing in automotive styling and performance.

McAndrew Pontiac has both new and used Pontiacs in stock and you can get a good buy now, as they are cleaning out their lot to make room for new models arriving in the fall. When you buy your car from McAndrew's, you can be sure you are dealing with a dependable firm. They have been in business at the same location since 1959, featuring both sales and service on all models of Pontiacs.

There are five Firebirds for every kind of driving, showing a host of refinements in this year's models. New rear suspension enhances the ride; new engines move them; new interiors of glove-smooth expanded Morrokide add new luxury. The strikingly new Bonneville is the largest Pontiac made, yet is remarkably agile. All Bonneville models have wall-to-wall nylon blend carpeting, vinyl instrument panels and other exciting trimmings.

Other models include the Bonneville Brougham, the most elegantly styled Pontiac ever made; the Executive, featuring big car roominess on a long, low wheel-base; the beautiful Venturas; Catalinas; LeMans; Grand Prix; G T O; Tempest Custom; and Tempests. In addition, McAndrews has a good selection of used cars, all serviced and ready to go, thoroughly checked by their competent Service Department.

Stop in at McAndrew's any time and see any of their salesmen who will be glad to serve you and answer any questions that you may have. Ask for Joseph Marlen, Joseph Sullivan, Frank Wholey, John McAndrews, Steve Lippman, Robert Leighton, Ed Dupont or Dave Iverson. McAndrew Pontiac, Inc. is open until nine Monday through Friday, and until five on Saturdays.

Appeals Decision Attacked In Court

Partial Approval Granted

The board of selectmen Monday night granted partial approval to Arthur E. deMontigny, 200 Swanton St., Winchester, to remove peat and fill a section of land he owns in Lowell Junction.

Because it is a possible wetlands area, any changing of the surface must be approved by the State Department of Natural Resources according to the terms of the state "Hatch Act" which is conservation legislation.

The board's letter to the petitioner read:

"The Board of Selectmen at its regular meeting of July 22, 1968, voted approval of your planned excavation of peat and filling of that area owned by you as shown on your application submitted under the terms and requirements of the Hatch Act located on the easterly side of the Boston and Maine Railroad tracks. The Board disapproved your request for removal of peat and filling of land on the west side of the Boston and Maine Railroad tracks. This disapproval was based upon inadequate information submitted by you as to the disposal of surface drainage that would be required when the area was filled."

EXCAVATION PERMITS

Excavation permits for the Lawrence Gas Company have been approved by the selectmen as follows:

17 feet in street opposite 196 North Main St. to install a 6" gas main

To install a gas service for United Rental Company at 221 North Main St.

To excavate approx. 27 feet in street on North St., to install a 2" gas service at 132 North St.

To excavate approx. 13 feet in street on River Rd., to install a 3/4" gas service for Thomas Leacock at 252 River Rd.

To excavate approx. 50 feet in street on Lowell St., and 600 feet in street on Brown St., to install a 6" steel gas main.

To excavate approx. 27 feet in street on Brown St., to install a 3/4" steel gas service at 12 Brown St.

To excavate approx. 13 feet in street on Haverhill St., to install a 1 1/4" gas service for Joseph Becotte, 59 Haverhill St.

A variance granted by the board of appeals to Donald Craig, 256 Beacon St., for the erection of a shed to house a school bus ran into legal complications this week.

Counsel for Mr. and Mrs. Victor J. Bush, 252 Beacon St. filed a bill of complaint in the equity side of Essex County Superior Court alleging the board's decision was "arbitrary, unreasonable and capricious," and that it be annulled.

The variance granted Craig by the board of appeals called for a shed limited to the housing of a school bus. Craig previously had been found in violation of a zoning law by parking and storing a school bus, pick-up truck, tractor, and garbage collection truck on his lot.

In granting the permit for the shed, the appeals board stipulated that it could be used to house the bus only and would have to be painted to blend with the surroundings.

Mr. and Mrs. Bush, through their counsel, the firm of Lane, Close and Orlando of Lawrence, complain that the action:

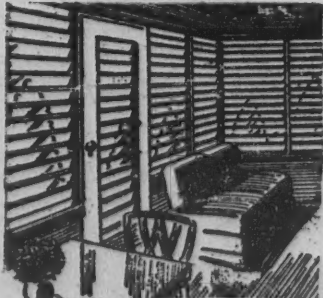

--Will be detrimental to the establishment and future character of the neighborhood.

--Is not in harmony with the purposes of the regulations of the Zoning Ordinance of the town.

--Will cause an amount of noise, exhaust fumes and other effects detrimental to the petitioners and the neighborhood.

--Will be detrimental to the value of real estate owned by the petitioner.
